about

Hello! My name is Lorenzo Tiriticco and I'm a graphic designer focused on branding, information design and motion design with experience in editorial, exhibition and web design.

I've worked for an agency in Trieste, Italy, and a big charity in London and I've done a ton of freelance work. You can read more in my CV.

I love bold colours, motion design, strong typographic choices. I'm inspired by nature and I love to play around and experiment with new tools, trends and styles.

My passions also include photography, social issues, architecture, nature and whatever alternative form of expression I can find. I also love volunteering, helping out and fighting for the right causes.

I'm always looking for collaborations and the opportunity to work with interesting people to mesh styles and perspectives.

Much love!
